

The WTC Twente in Hengelo is part of the World Trade Centers Association (WTCA) with over 300 establishments in almost 100 different countries. The objective of the WTCA is to promote international trade. There are over 750,000 companies and institutions associated with the WTC organisation worldwide. The entire Twente region and the Achterhoek is targeted and also the region situated close to the Dutch-German border, as well as the cities of Münster and Osnabrück in Germany.

WTC TWENTE

Expats Center

The World Trade Center Twente is looking into the possibility of setting up an Expats Center. The Expats Center must be a full-service center which serves as a single point of contact, providing information and services for highly qualified knowledge workers, expats who plan to settle in the region or are considering to do so. When it is set up, it will also provide services for companies in the region who employ expats. These activities center on services for expats in order to familiarise them with the Twente region and focus on creating an expat community to help them feel at home in our region.

The Expats Center will provide information on government services (including permits and BSN numbers), personal services (such as housing and education) and business services (including temporary office space and secretarial services). The World Trade Center Twente, together with regional partners, will also organise informative meetings and social events just for expats and their partners.
